For deans and program directors. A faculty member passed this along. It is one page on a question-checking service your program can try with a 50-question pilot.

Send us your exam questions. We send them back checked.

For nursing and EMS faculty who write their own questions. A wrong key, an out-of-date guideline or a question students can answer without reading it ends up in front of students more often than anyone likes. We find those and send back a fixed version of each one, by email. Every question is checked, and every fix is signed off by our RN reviewer: MSN-prepared, and a former New York State EMT.

What every question gets

1. Key check. Is the keyed answer right? Two separate checks against a current source. Where they disagree, the RN rules.
2. Current-guideline check. The 2025 AHA CPR and ACLS guidelines, the 2026 NCLEX test plans, drugs that left the US market.
3. Blind test: can it be guessed? We read only the answer choices, with no question. If the key is obvious from the choices alone, the question isn't testing anything.
4. One-best-answer check. No two right answers, no "all of the above" traps, no wording that gives the key away.
5. A fixed version of every flagged question, with a one-line reason and the source.

What comes back

A spreadsheet, one row per question (OK or fix, the reason, the fixed text, the source), and a one-page summary. Two sample rows:

Result	Reason	Fixed version
Fix	Key says adult compressions 1.5 inches deep. That's the infant depth.	Key: at least 2 inches (5 cm), no more than 2.4 inches. AHA adult BLS
Fix	Blind test: the key is the only long, detailed choice.	Three wrong choices rewritten to the same length and detail. NBME guide

The rules, in plain words

- AI-assisted, RN-reviewed. AI does the first pass on every question. Our RN reviewer reads every flagged question and every fix, and signs off on the file before it goes back to you.
- Your questions stay yours. They never go into Hall Pass or any other bank, and we never share them. Files are deleted 30 days after delivery.
- Nursing and EMS only, to start. That's what our licenses cover.
- No pass-rate promises. Better questions help students learn. Hall Monitor doesn't promise your students a score or a pass rate.

Start with a pilot: email up to 50 questions.

Include the keys, the exam or course, and when you need them. Within 2 business days we reply with a delivery date and a payment link.
