Accessibility statement

The Hall Pass study guides and the Class Board pass every WCAG 2.1 level AA check we ran, and every gap our first review found is fixed. We still call them partly conformant until a full screen reader pass is done, and say below exactly what's left.

Self-review by Headed In LLC, November 11, 2026 (gaps fixed and rechecked the same day). Not a third-party audit. Problems or requests: hello@headedin.com.

What we tested and how

Pages: a study guide's home page and study round on headedin.com (we tested NCLEX-RN; every guide shares the same code, so the results carry over), the Class Board start page, and a teacher's board with students on it.

- Automated rules: axe-core 4.10 with every WCAG 2.0 and 2.1 A and AA rule.
- Color contrast: every visible piece of text measured against its real background, on a phone-width screen.
- Keyboard: reaching and using every control without a mouse, including answering questions.
- Zoom and reflow: a 320-pixel-wide screen (the same as 400% zoom) and the WCAG text-spacing test.
- Labels, headings, page language, page titles and landmarks, checked in the page code.
- Screen reader information: what each answer button reports (picked or not), what the page announces after Check answer, and where focus goes, on the NCLEX-RN and NREMT EMT guides.

Not tested yet: a full pass with a screen reader (NVDA, JAWS or VoiceOver), and the Hall Pass iPhone and Android apps.

What passes

Contrast (1.4.3, 1.4.11)	Pass No text below 4.5:1 (3:1 for large text) on the guide or the board.
Reflow and zoom (1.4.4, 1.4.10)	Pass No sideways scrolling at 320 pixels; pinch zoom is never blocked.

Text spacing (1.4.12)	Pass No text cut off with wider letter, word and line spacing.
Keyboard (2.1.1, 2.1.2)	Pass Answer choices are real buttons; matrix, highlight and drop-down items work by keyboard; no keyboard traps found.
Visible focus (2.4.7)	Pass A thick gold ring on buttons and answer choices.
Use of color (1.4.1)	Pass Fixed November 11: right and wrong answers now carry a check or cross and a word, not only green or red.
Time limits (2.2.1)	N/A Practice tests have no timer.
Page language, titles, landmarks (3.1.1, 2.4.2, 1.3.1)	Pass English set on every page; each page has a descriptive title and header, navigation, main and footer regions.
Form labels (3.3.2, 4.1.2)	Pass Every field has a label, including the board's Class name box (fixed November 11); each Remove button names the student.
Picked answers (4.1.2)	Pass Fixed November 11: every answer button tells a screen reader whether it's picked, in plain, matrix and select-all questions.
Result after Check answer (4.1.3)	Pass Fixed November 11: "Right", "Partly right" or "Not quite", the right answer and any partial-credit points are read out, then focus sits on Next.
Focus on a new question (2.4.3)	Pass Fixed November 11: starting a round, Next and Skip put focus on the question itself, so a screen reader starts reading there.
Skip link (2.4.1)	Pass Fixed November 11: the first Tab on a page shows "Skip to content", which jumps past the top bar.

Headings and confirmations on the board (1.3.1, 4.1.3)	Pass Fixed November 11: a teacher's board has a top-level heading, and confirmations like "Copied" are read out.

Still open

Full screen reader pass	Planned We checked what the pages tell screen readers in the page code, not yet by listening with NVDA, JAWS or VoiceOver. Planned by January 31, 2027.
Hall Pass apps	Not reviewed The iPhone and Android apps haven't had this review yet.
